"At the threshold of this New Year, which finds our country at War, I extend my best wishes to all ranks in the Canadian Fighting Services, and to the Civil Staff of the Department of National Defence. The same message, I am sure, goes from every home in Canada to those who serve on land, at seas, and in the air. Canada has every reason to be proud of the splendid manner in which all members of our Forces have met the exacting requirements of Service and training during the past four months. "I know you will be ready for whatever call may come to you in the uncertain days that lie before us. With our preparations to meet with fortitude whatever trials the New Year may bring, there will be a general hope and prayer that through the Guidance of Providence the world may find its way to a lasting Peace."

5. DISCIPLINE ON TRAINS:

Reports have been received that soldiers travelling as individuals on trains have caused considerable trouble to the railway authorities by creating disturbances in cars occupied by the general public.

Complaints include:-

- (i) Bringing and consuming liquor on the trains.
- (ii) Disgusting language.
- (iii) Drunkenness.
- (vi) Interference with civilian passengers, especially women.
- (v) Disgusting and objectionable behaviour.

It is also reported that soldiers with special rate tickets are travelling in plain clothes and that some soldiers have been travelling without railway tickets at all, and have refused, or been unable to pay the necessary fare. The train crews have been powerless to deal with these men.

It is pointed out that this reprehensible conduct by soldiers on leave, if continued, may lead to the railway companies having to withdraw the concessions granted by them in allowing all ranks of the C.A.S.F. on leave to purchase "round trip" tickets for single fare.

This unsoldierly conduct brings discredit to His Majesty's Service.

1. MODIFICATIONS
IN DRESS OF
OFFICERS AND OTHER RANKS,
C.A.S.F. FOR THE PERIOD OF
THE WAR:
Routine Order
No. 516,
Dated 12-6-40
H.Q. 54-27-8-8

Paras. 2 and 3 are cancelled and the following is substituted therefor:-

2. (a) Full dress and mess dress will not be worn on any occasion. Undress may be worn by all ranks in the evening when ~~not~~ on duty. This dress will be optional and officers and other ranks not in possession of it will not be required to provide it if they do not desire to do so.

(b) Undress will not be worn during the day on any occasion. Officers proceeding out of barracks or camps in this dress will wear the San Browne belt, without brace or frog, or a cloth belt of the same material and colour as the frock, and of the same pattern as authorized for the service dress jacket in para. 5 below, as amended by R.O. 79. Officers of Rifle regiments may alternatively wear the black patent leather shoulder belt with pouch. In Highland and Scottish regiments, variation in the articles of undress may be made according to regimental custom, e.g., dirk belt in place of the San Browne or cloth belt.

(c) Other ranks will not wear belts with undress.

(a) The wearing of collar badges with the undress serge frock is optional by units and commanding officers will be responsible for the maintenance of uniformity in this respect within their units.

Shoulder titles will not be worn with the undress serge frock.

(e)

(i) For details of Undress Order for officers, see K.R. Can. para. 1297(9). Officers of regiments and corps for which a regimental or corps pattern coloured field service cap has been authorized may wear such cap in place of the undress forage cap. All officers, when not on duty, may also wear the coloured field service cap as authorized for their regiment or corps, with service dress, battle dress and khaki dress. Regiments or Corps for which a coloured field service cap has not yet been authorized should submit particulars of the pattern of cap they desire to adopt, in accordance with the provisions of Appendix to this Routine Order. In Scottish kilted and trewd regiments, the Glengarry of authorized regimental pattern and in tank regiments the beret with regimental flash are worn in Undress Order.

1. ROUTINE ORDER
NO. 516,
Dated 12-6-40

(ii) As the undress serge frock will not be worn on any occasion when on duty, permission is granted for a white shirt with soft cuffs, a soft white collar and black tie fastened in a sailor's knot to be worn with the undress serge frock of the low step collar pattern.

Officers purchasing undress serge frocks will provide themselves with the pattern at present authorized which has a standup collar, except for the Canadian Chaplain Service in which the serge frock is of the same pattern as the service dress jacket.

(f) Details of Undress Order for Warrant Officers, N.C.Os. and men are set forth in Appendix II to this Routine Order. Attention is directed to the fact that the coloured field service cap has not yet been authorized to be worn by W.Os., N.C.Os. and men, in Canada. The matter is under consideration but until the necessary authority is published in Routine Orders, the headdress described in Appendix II to this Routine Order will continue to be worn in Undress Order by all W.Os., N.C.Os. and men. Other ranks not now in possession of Undress uniform, who may wish to provide themselves with it, are advised to defer purchase until the question of headdress is settled.

(g) Except as otherwise provided above, service dress or battle dress, including khaki drill within the prescribed period, will be worn by all ranks except that officers on leave may be permitted to wear plain clothes and all ranks at their stations may also be permitted to wear plain clothes for the purpose of taking part in athletic exercises for which a special dress is necessary.

3. The wearing of orders, decorations and medals will cease. The ribbands of orders, decorations and medals will continue to be worn in undress, service dress and battle dress in the prescribed manner. (Effective 15th. May, 1940.)

7. INSTRUCTIONS FOR THE ECONOMIC CONTROL OF RATIONS:

Routine Order 151.

The following points are to be brought to the attention of all concerned and steps are to be taken to see that frequent inspections are made and that waste is eliminated.

SUPPLY OF FOOD.

The rations approved for the C.A.S.F., with their alternatives, furnish a well-balanced diet with a high caloric value.

It is essential that all nutritive components of this diet should be conserved and made available to the troops.

Constant care must be taken, on the receipt of food supplies from contractors, that they are fully up to the standard laid down both as to quality and quantity.

Received in good condition, storage facilities for their protection until issued to troops, must be adequate and steps must be taken to see that articles of a perishable nature do not remain in storage too long.

PREPARATION OF FOOD.

All food issued to troops has nutritive value, and troops must be trained to utilize all portions of the same. Thorough training of cooks is essential in order that food should not only be properly cooked, but tastefully served. Weekly diet should be prepared at least a week in advance in order that a varied diet may be provided. Diet sheets of Units should be forwarded to District Headquarters for approval.

LIEUT. COLONEL, M.R. TenBroeke, M.C.

THREE SHEETS
No. 197 (Sheet TWO)

PART I

WINNIPEG, Manitoba,
29th August, 1940.

PREPARATION OF FOOD.

The following points will be found to require constant supervision --

- (1) All bones should be placed in the soup caldrons to extract the nutritional value contained therein before being discarded.
- (2) All scraps of meat not found fit for roasting, frying, or boiling, should be so used, or made into sausages, stews, hash, or shepherd's pie, etc.
- (3) The outside leaves of cabbages and the skins of certain vegetables are of considerable nutritional value. They should be washed and placed in the soup caldrons. It should be possible in this way to serve men with strong hot soups very frequently. Hot soups should be made available to troops coming off guard or night duty.
- (4) Potatoes:- The portion of the potato containing the highest nutritive value that directly beneath the skin and is removed by peeling. It will be found that where potatoes are being peeled they are frequently reduced in weight by nearly one third. Potatoes should, therefore, not be peeled but should be thoroughly cleansed, and the brown outer skin removed with wire brushes or potato cleaning equipment, if available.
- (5) Bread:- should be cut and served to the men in quite small pieces not larger than one half of a three-quarter inch slice, and the men should be informed that they may eat as many of these pieces as they desire, but every piece taken must be eaten. Stale bread should be utilized for toast, puddings, sausages, etc.
- (6) Meat:- In the majority of military kitchens, meat is over cooked and its nutritive value partially destroyed. Many of our men do not like rare meat. A happy medium should be required. Not only should the kinds of meat used be varied, but the forms in which it is cooked and served should be constantly changed. A large quantity of meat scraps can be utilized in soups, sausages, rissoles, etc.
- (7) Fats:- All fats should be preserved. Many men eat little or no fat, but it will be noted that eating of fat increases in cold weather. All dripping must be preserved and utilized freely for cooking. Excess of fats should be disposed of to the trade, none should be at any time be dumped. All greases from kitchen should be set on one side for this purpose. In time of war, fats are required for the making of explosives, soaps, glycerine, etc. All kitchens should have grease traps which should be skimmed daily and the grease separately stored for disposal.
- (8) Fish:- is a very valuable alternative and should be served at least once a week. Scraps of cold fish can be made up with potatoes, etc., and served as rissoles. Canned fish has practically the same nutritive value as fresh fish but requires careful preparation in order to be palatable.
- (9) Fresh fruits and vegetables:- These articles have a special nutritive value when eaten raw. Their use in salads is strongly recommended. The root vegetables, such as carrots, turnips, beets, parsnips, etc., have a definite value from the health standpoint and should be freely used. They should seldom be peeled.
- (10) Milk:- Evaporated or powdered milk retains most of the nutritive values. It is sterilized and protected from contamination. Fresh milk if served to the troops must always be pasturized to prevent infection by various types of disease germs.

COOKING OF FOOD.

It is necessary that all cooks should be trained in the principles of dietetics and in the proper cooking and serving of food, and specially intelligent men should be selected for training in order that every Company should have at least four or five men always available. This will be of particular importance overseas. Before proceeding overseas, instruction should be given in field cookery. Our troops are fond of pies, pastry, and puddings. Special training in this regard the satisfaction of the troops. The head cook should be held responsible for all waste.

SERVING OF FOOD.

Men vary very widely in the types of food that they prefer. Some are heavy meat eaters and small starch consumers and visa versa. For this reason the cafeteria system of handing food to men from counter is generally wasteful and men do not obtain exactly what they desire. Men should be seated in groups of ten or twelve, the meat, vegetables, potatoes, bread, etc., should be placed on the table and the men permitted to help themselves. Sufficient Orderlies should be provided to ensure that articles are served hot and removed when no longer required. Men should be trained to take only what they desire to eat and should not be permitted to leave the table without eating all they have helped themselves to. This practice will rapidly reduce waste.

No. 197 (Sheet Three)

PART 1.

WINNIFEG, Manitoba.
29th August, 1940.

THREE SHEETS.

WASTE:

In addition to the suggestions given above, waste should be controlled daily by the examination of the garbage containers by an Officer. Under normal conditions, properly supervised, the waste from 500 men should not exceed one barrel of garbage per day (exclusive of bones). This Officer should also look into the collection and disposal of grease. Cans should never be placed in the garbage; they should be incinerated. In addition to the above, careful watch should be kept on the consumption of fuel for cooking purposes.

SANITARY PRECAUTIONS.

Not only must kitchen floors, tables and culinary vessels be kept scrupulously clean and sinks and sewers in proper condition, but the personnel employed must have clean hands and clean clothing. No man suffering from colds or infectious conditions should be employed.

Every kitchen should have the means of sterilizing by boiling all table flat-ware, cups, mugs, etc. after use, when infectious diseases are present in the Unit.

Food must be protected from infection by flies.

R.O. 249.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR THE ECONOMIC CONTROL OF RATIONS, ETC.

With reference to the instructions contained in C.A.S.F. Routine Order No. 151, it is brought to the attention of all concerned that, although there is a daily ration of commodities and quantities authorized; units. When indenting, are to take into consideration the quantity of food stuffs on hand and will requisition for only such commodities in quantities which will actually be required for the day on which the rations are to be consumed. The over-stocking of food stuffs in small units' stores, with the consequent possibility of wastage, is to be guarded against at all times.

-----cOo-----

R.O. 636.

ECONOMY IN THE USE OF RATIONS AND CONSTRUCTION MATERIAL - SALVAGE OF NECESSARY WASTE.

In view of the fact that allegations are being constantly received at N.D.H.Q. to the effect that there is extravagance and waste in the operations of this Department, in respect of both the feeding of the troops and the construction of accommodation, it is again to be impressed on all concerned that the utmost effort is to be made to ensure the highest possible degree of efficiency and economy in the use of both food-stuffs and construction materials. It is to be impressed on all ranks that avoidable waste not only adds to the already huge cost of prosecuting the war, but also creates an unfavorably impression amongst the general public. It is to be borne in mind that what may appear to be a very trifling matter at the time, such as, for example, the discarding to garbage of a single loaf of bread, may easily develop into a serious allegation through civilian sources that there is wholesale wastage of bread in the Army. In the same way, a visitor to one of our camps, seeing some rusty nails on the ground, spreads the report that there is terrific waste of building material, and so on.
